Selman's wife has remained close by his bedside ever since he went into Casita Hospital here Monday. He was later transferred to the San Bernardino hospital, and a spokesman at his office indicated he would probably remain there over the weekend.

Work Rule Injunction Hits Rails

Elimination of
65,000 Jobs
Called to Halt

CHICAGO (UPI) — U.S. District Judge Joseph Sam Perry today granted a temporary injunction against sweeping anti-featherbedding work rules changes which would eventually eliminate 65,000 jobs on the nation's railroads.

Perry granted a union's appeal for an injunction barring the railroad plan to put the work rules changes into effect next Thursday. Five on-train rail brotherhoods, representing 210,000 workers, had threatened to call a crippling nationwide rail strike if the work rules were imposed.

Perry's temporary injunction will stay in effect while the unions appeal his earlier ruling against issuing a permanent injunction. Perry earlier in the week had refused to block the railroads on his own, saying their plans to cut railroad jobs were within the Railway Labor Act.

Perry said he feared he "might cause irreparable damage" if he turned down the unions' last ditch plea for an injunction pending their appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

J.E. Wolfe, chief negotiator for 180 U.S. railroads, said Thursday at a federal court hearing on a union petition for a temporary restraining order blocking the new work rules that 65,000 workers would be dismissed in an "anti-featherbedding" drive.

80,000 Jobs

The five on-train unions, representing engineers, firemen, conductors, switchmen, trainmen and engineers, have estimated the number of layoffs might reach 80,000 if the new rules take effect as scheduled. The five unions represent between 200,000 and 210,000 railroad operating employees.

Report on Tax Decision Set Monday

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy will go before the American people by radio and television Monday night to report on the national economy and disclose his decision on when and if a tax reduction is necessary.

A White House announcement of Kennedy's broadcast plans came after he met for 75 minutes with the chief economic officials of the government plus advisers from outside the executive branch.

The President will speak Monday at 4 p.m. PDT over all television networks plus the radio facilities of the Mutual Broadcasting System.

"The President will discuss the national economy," a White House statement said.

Kennedy announced sometime ago that he would decide whether a tax cut was needed this year after receiving economic indicators on conditions across the country in July.

Administration sources said that by the time the chief executive goes on the air Monday night, he will have weighed the economic indicators available and made his decision on when to ask Congress for a tax reduction to stimulate the national economy.

The scope of today's meeting was considerably broader in personnel than the White House originally announced.

The White House first said the conferees included the secretaries of Treasury, Commerce and Labor plus the Council of Economic Advisers and the budget director.

PROXY MARRIAGE?

Resort Figures Figure in Court

INDIO — A suit to end an alleged 1961 Mexican marriage of Robert S. Howard Jr., 21-year-old son of Palm Springs sports figure and former Hotelman Bob Howard, is scheduled in Superior Court here Aug. 22.

Young Howard, an assistant to a Palm Springs veterinarian, filed a counter suit seeking annulment of a reported Tijuana marriage with 20-year-old Carole A. Howard of Rancho Mirage.

Mrs. Howard had earlier filed a divorce action in Superior Court here which alleged the couple was married Aug. 26, 1961, in Tijuana and were separated Oct. 17, 1961.

Mrs. Howard's divorce action lists a 4½-month-old son, Mark Blaine Howard, who was born in Palm Springs in February of 1962.

The divorce action, based on cruelty, seeks $300 monthly child support, plus $100 monthly temporary alimony.

The counter action for annulment, filed for young Howard by Palm Springs attorney Leonard Bock, denied paternity of the child and denies that a marriage took place in Tijuana.

Howard's cross complaint alleges that the couple visited a

Many medical groups also reacted with enthusiasm. However, both doctors and manufacturers warned against regulations so strict they would impede the advancement of healing by blocking introduction of new drugs.

The new Regulations announced Thursday provided: —That the Federal Food and Drug Administration be notified and given full details about drugs distributed for testing.

—That tests on humans be based on adequate preclinical studies to assure safety.

—That clinical tests be planned and carried out by qualified persons and the FDA kept informed of progress.

FDA will have the power to halt tests if doubt arises as to the safety of a new drug. Doctors must be informed of all known side effects and precautions when given a drug for test. The Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association said the FDA must avoid "withholding from the medical profession of new drugs which may save lives or alleviate suffering."

Dr. Walker Gakenheimer, Administrative director of Los Angeles' Stewart Laboratories, said he does not feel the new regulations will hamper research. However, he added that he hoped the FDA was acting for the public benefit and "not through hysteria because of Thalidomide," the baby-deforming drug.

Dr. Walter E. Ward, medical director of Cutter Laboratories, Berkeley, Calif., the firm which became involved in lawsuits several years ago for marketing allegedly faulty polio vaccine, said, "We have not seen the actual regulations...but we have never opposed any which the Food and Drug Administration felt were necessary and sensible."

SUNNYVALE, Calif. (UPI) — Two Rhesus monkeys and four hamsters floated across Canada today on a 1,900-mile, 25-mile-high journey for the benefit of science.

Their trip, in a capsule suspended from a giant balloon, is the third of a four-part series to test the effects of cosmic radiation on future space travelers.

The animals started their journey at Goose Bay, Labrador, Thursday night. The 54-hour flight is expected to end late Saturday in the Saskatchewan-Alberta area of western Canada.

Solons Reject Filibuster on Communications

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate by overwhelming vote today slapped down a filibuster-bloc attempt to sidetrack President Kennedy's space communications bill for other legislation.

Ho Hum, Reds Say Nyet Again

GENEVA (UPI)—Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin today rejected U.S. proposals for progressive zonal inspections to check on the destruction and reduction of nuclear and conventional arms during a general disarmament treaty.

He told the 17-nation Disarmament Conference that the proposals outlined in the U.S. draft treaty would be "useful as a means of getting information by a country planning an attack" and "unacceptable to a country fearing attack."

Zorin maintained that 100 per cent destruction of nuclear delivery vehicles in the first phase of general disarmament was the "only insurance" against surprise nuclear attack.

The Russians Thursday rejected American concessions on policing a ban at a meeting of the nuclear subcommittee.

Neutral delegations indicated they are preparing a new initiative to break the stalemate on a nuclear test ban treaty in view of the Soviet rejection of the latest U.S. proposals.

A Swedish delegation source said the eight uncommitted nations here "most likely will act" next week if there is no sign of any progress towards agreement between the Americans and Russians by then. He said the neutrals already were preparing to take the initiative.

Conference Set

PARIS (UPI) — A world conference on "faith and order" will be held in Montreal next July, Dr. Robert Bilheimer announced Thursday.

Soviet Union Blast Third in Nuclear Series

UPPSALA, Sweden (UPI) — The Soviet Union today exploded the third nuclear bomb in its latest series of tests in Siberia, the Uppsala Seismological Institute announced.

The institute said it registered the explosion of a 3-megaton bomb at 2:25 a.m. PDT. A megaton is equivalent to 1 million tons of TNT.

Today's blast was small compared to the first explosion of the current series, estimated at between 30 and 40 megatons.

PARIS (UPI) — The Senate unanimously confirmed Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor to be chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Taylor promised to use "whatever weapons and force are necessary" to defend Western Europe. The Senate also confirmed Gen. Earle G. Wheeler to be Army chief of staff and Victor M. Longstreet to be assistant secretary of the Navy.

Television — A House government operations subcommittee sought to find out why the U.S. foreign aid agency brought a thousand 23-inch transistor television sets for research.

It rejected, 70-14, a motion by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., to substitute his antifilibuster resolution for the communications satellite bill reported by the Foreign Relations Committee Thursday night.

The Senate thus upheld Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield's declaration that the issue was whether to "legislate or vegetate"—even though a second filibuster threatened to deadlock the body in the last month of the 1962 session.

Morse's amendment to the Senate rules would make it possible for as few as 26 senators—one more than a majority of a quorum—to gag a talkathon.

Mansfield promptly moved to table Morse's motion. The decision to table was upheld on the roll call vote.

Morse refused to let Senate committees meet today while the Senate is considering the satellite bill.

The measure won the 13-4 approval of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Thursday night. The committee turned down a series of proposed amendments.

Opponents of the bill hinted that they might be more cooperative if Senate leaders would put the bill aside temporarily to consider measures that affect the "health and safety of the people" such as arm and drug control legislation.

But the Senate leadership prepared for a run of long sessions. It was determined to wear down the expected filibuster and get the House-approved communications bill passed.

The bill would set up a privately-owned, government regulated corporation to operate a space satellite network to relay telephone, television and radio signals around the world.

New York Stocks at Closing

NEW YORK (UPI)—The long stock market stalemate continued today as the popular indicators closed showing little change at all.

Among the blue chips only Alcoa and Chrysler showed any particular strength and Eastman Kodak retreated more than a point on profit taking. In general autos and oils finished firmly, steels were narrowly mixed and chemicals easier. Rails and utilities were divided.

The usually fast moving electronics were pretty much stymied although Raytheon and Beckman sneaked ahead about a point and Litton recoiled 1.

Grief Holds Eddie from Ida's Rites

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—Veteran entertainer Eddie Cantor, overwhelmed by grief at the death of his wife, was not expected to be able to attend her funeral services today.

His daughter, Mrs. Natalie Metzger, said there has been no recurrence of the heart ailment that has plagued the Palm Springs winter resident for several years, but "we think it might be too much for him" to attend the services.

Mrs. Cantor, 70, died Wednesday of a heart attack. She had been bothered by heart trouble for the past seven years and had been confined to bed since February.

Cantor, also 70, has had a heart ailment for several years.

Cantor, with his wife Ida, maintained a home in Palm Springs for more than a score of years, and both he and his wife were active in local civic affairs.

Seldom seen at local social functions, the couple took a deep interest in such projects as the Desert Hospital growth and the construction of the Palm Springs Boys' Club.

The couple's Spanish-style home is at 720 Paseo El Mirador.

The goggle-eyed comic, who attained stardom in every media of the entertainment industry, collapsed when he learned of his wife's death and was in a state of shock. He was placed under sedation and nurses were maintaining a 24-hour vigil at his bedside.

After a marriage of 48 years, Cantor was proud of the fact that his family life contradicted the stereotype of Hollywood-Broadway marriages. He and Ida began their courtship when they were 13 years old and were married on June 9, 1914, when they were 22.

Their marriage survived the opposition of Mrs. Cantor's father, who disapproved of anyone in show business, Cantor's rise to fame in "Ziegfeld's Follies," his lost fortune in the 1929 crash, and his subsequent second struggle to the top of the entertainment field.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Lorene Eskew, Oxnard and Mrs. Norma Lagomarsino, Ojai; three sisters, Mrs. Winnie Carsner of Ojai, Mrs. Otha Cravy of Wasco, Tex., and Mrs. Ruth Houk of Torrence, Tex.; five grandchildren; and four great grandchildren.

ALLEN DULLES SAYS:

Grandchildren Undo Revolution

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Nikita Khrushchev has boasted that our grandchildren will live under communism, but Allen W. Dulles feels that it is the grandchildren of the revolution who are proving the undoing of communism.

In a speech at the American Bar Association convention Thursday, Dulles, former director of the Central Intelligence Agency, said his 10 years with the CIA had made him a "confirmed optimist."

"My confidence in the future is based on increasing evidence from inside Russia that the revolution is failing to convert its grandsons—the rising, educated generation, twice removed from Lenin and the Bolsheviks."

Dulles said "there is slowly building up inside Russia a latent pressure for more freedom, for a fairer sharing of the produce of their labor than the system now allows."

He said Premier Khrushchev, who has boasted that the Soviet Union will bury the West, has numerous problems of his own to bury.

"He must not only bury the memory of Stalinism but the record of his association with Stalinist terror," Dulles continued.

Dulles discussed other problems facing the Red leader: "The fact that Communist nations must wall off their subject populations while other peoples are moving closer together."

"The world's increasing realization that living standards behind the Iron Curtain are below those of Western industrialized nations."

—Agricultural failures.

—Schisms in the Communist world caused by disputes between Russia and China and the independent path taken by Yugoslavia.

"Some of the steam has gone out of the early evangelical, fanatical drive of communism," Dulles said.

"And it's a tarnished thing. It can never really live down Stalin's reign of terror."

Dulles said that while Khrushchev claims he wants peaceful competition between East and West, "he dare not, in my judgment risk any real confrontation between the two systems."

"Let us hold him to his challenge. Let us do all we can to bring about an honest weighing of the values of the two systems. 'I have no doubt as to the outcome.'"

Texas GOP Senator to Speak Here

U.S. Senator John G. Tower of Texas has accepted an invitation to appear at a luncheon in Palm Springs, according to an announcement by Carl C. Egner, president of the local Republican Assembly. The luncheon will be held as a boost to the candidacy of Pat Martin, GOP candidate for the congressional district race against Democrat incumbent D. S. Saund. Sen. Tower, who is the first Republican senator from Texas since reconstruction days, will be main speaker at the luncheon to be held Saturday, Sept. 15. Egner said that the location of the event has not yet been determined.

The Texas senator will sandwich the visit in on a busy California visit, according to Egner. He will fly in from a Friday night Orange County engagement Saturday morning about 10:30 and leave by plane at 1:30 p.m. to keep an appointment in San Mateo. A committee for arrangements for the Martin-for-Congress luncheon includes Jim Hicks, Mrs. Jean Dill and Ed McCoubrey.

Foundation President Resignation Announced

John M. McFadden, president of the Palm Springs Foundation for Mentally Retarded Children, Inc., since the organization's formation in 1959, resigned the post Thursday because of ill health.

McFadden announced his resignation, which became effective immediately, during a board meeting in his home at 271 Monterey Road.

"I submitted by resignation on the advice of my doctor," McFadden told The Desert Sun. He explained that he has been under medical care since May, 1962, but will retain his board post, at least for the near future.

The foundation is now headed by Mrs. Charlotte Coulter, board vice president who became chief executive officer Thursday, when McFadden's resignation was accepted. Mrs. Coulter and Mrs. Grace Deason are the two current foundation officers. A 15-member auxiliary board, formed under McFadden's term, is expected to merge with the foundation in the fall.

Under McFadden's organizational leadership, the foundation operated classes for trainable retarded children in a classroom provided by the Cathedral City Community Church during the 1961-62 school year. The group sparked requests to the Palm Springs Unified School District board for a trainable retarded children's program within the school system. The requests resulted in school board appointment of a four-member citizen's committee, which has recommended such an in-school program by next February.

The foundation recently gained federal income tax deductibility for gifts for the work, McFadden reported in ending his leadership. He outlined objectives for the near future, including creation of a larger single foundation board, expansion of the membership within the Palm Springs area, and establishment of a permanent program for trainable children within the Palm Springs area.

Selection of a new president is expected to be deferred until early fall, after a planned membership drive for the foundation.

Charm Class Molds 'Young Ladies'

STANDING PROPERLY and with ease isn't as easy as it looks. Here Barbara Foster is pictured as she gives suggestions to Andrea Allred, Joyce Powers, and Phyllis Sing, who are students in the 'charm' classes offered by the city's recreation department. The teen-agers also learn dressing and make-up tricks during the course.

Women OF THE Desert

Palm Springs, California

Sponsored by Recreation Department

Everyone knows (if she listens to a mythical grandmother) that being "a lady" must come from the inside.

But there's a lot to be said, too, for the outward trappings of "ladyhood" — how to walk, how to sit in a chair, how to dress, how to speak.

So once again this summer, as it has off and on for the past eight years, the Palm Springs Recreation Department has sponsored a series of classes for teen-agers called "Modeling, Charm, and Make-up."

Taught by Barbara Foster, the six-week course has revealed to some 46 young girls the secrets of poise, graciousness, and good manners, and the necessity of self-awareness.

Teaching the class is a labour of love for Barbara Foster, founder and owner of Palm Springs' Mam'Selle — a fashion and shopping service, modeling school, and style and beauty center. After her graduation from Palm Springs High School, Barbara gravitated naturally to the fashion field, gaining her experience as an employee of other firms.

But eight years ago she was asked by the city's recreation department to teach a first class of charm and modeling. She became so fascinated by the work that she decided to open her own service, and Mam'Selle is the result. Now, whenever asked, she teaches the summer course, for she believes strongly that the foundation of charm and poise must be laid early in life.

RONALD DeGRUCCIO CLAIMS BRIDE

Summer Nuptials in Rialto

The First Christian Church of Rialto was the flower-filled setting for the late July ceremony at which Ronald L. DeGruccio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis DeGruccio of Cathedral City, claimed Miss Judy Holmes as his bride. The rites were read by the Rev. Willard M. Roberts.

A honeymoon at Disneyland followed the double-ring nuptials, and now the young pair are at home in San Bernardino.

White Organza

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Holmes of Rialto, was given in marriage by her father. For her wedding she chose a filmy summer gown of white, fashioned with a short-sleeved lace bodice, touched with scallops at the bateau neckline, and a floor-length skirt of billowing organza. She added a waist-length veil floating from a halo crown of pearls, and carried an orchid-centered bouquet of white roses and carnations.

Attending her as maid of honor was Miss Mary Claire Strohte of Rialto, who wore pink taffeta. The bridesmaids, who were in frocks of blue satin with matching nylon overskirts, were the bride's sister, Connie, and the benedict's cousin, Miss Sandra Carrassi of Lakeview. The trio all held clusters of carnations frilled with blue net and tied with blue satin ribbons.

Masculine Contingent

The ring bearer was the bride's brother, Tommie. Jim Aiken of Palm Springs stood with the benedict as best man, seating the guests were Stanley DeGruccio, the bridegroom's brother, and Stanley Harper, the bride's cousin from Sacramento.

NEOPHYTE MODELS don't really balance books on their heads any more to acquire that straight and willowy look, but this familiar scene does illustrate one of the skills taught by the recreation department's 'charm course' — walking down stairs gracefully. Demonstrating the not-so-easy stance is Bonnie Jean Pennington, one of the 46 Palm Springs young misses taking the classes.

DESERT GARDENING

Two Orchid Trees Do Well in Desert Area

Inhabitants and visitors to Palm Springs who saw the orchid tree in full bloom this spring surely envied their owners. Under the horticultural designation of Bauhinia there are two species that thrive in the vicinity and that amply repay the cost and care entailed in raising them to maturity.

The first of these, the orchid tree, sometimes called mountain ebony, grows to heights varying between 15 and 25 feet. Like the vast majority of trees grown locally is not native to the area. Growing profusely in Indo-China, it is of comparatively recent importation. It thrives best in well-drained soil and should be amply fed with the nutrient contained in most commercial fertilizers. When applying fertilizers it is unwise to dig the feed into the surrounding soil. Lightly loosen the surface of the soil with a rake. Spread the fertilizer, rake again then water copiously.

Have a Pro Plant It

When planting the young orchid trees follow your nurseryman's instructions carefully. Better still, take a lesson from watching him plant it. The cost is slight for extra service and will benefit you materially. The pleasure derived when you feast your eyes on its exquisite lavender and purple blooms next spring will more than repay the cost and you will gloat in the fact that you planted it in ample time to allow it to establish its growth.

The second of his species—the butterfly flower—emanates from French Guiana. Its exquisite pink flowers, which bloom in late winter and early spring, are streaked with purple.

Which of these two trees to plant is solely a matter of taste. As a pair they make an excellent variation to the rest of your garden.

Locally neither of them seem to be troubled by the attacks of pests, hence they are easily raised. However, these are the only two that have given any promise in the desert area. A multitude of pods show up at the end of the season. When the pods have dried they can be used in raising other trees.

In '53 we experimented by using a perforated, five-gallon can, preparing the soil and planting seeds from a pod. If we remember correctly it took about three years before reaching a height of three feet.

When moving to a new home in Palm Springs we brought along the five-gallon can and planted the tree (rather trees) in prepared soil. Within two years we had three trees growing into each other and we have enjoyed the showing each year.

Two public area hearings on desert matters have been set for Wednesday by the county planning commission hearing board. One is for an addition to an existing kennel on highway 111 approximately 340 feet east of Paxton Drive. It is being requested by Dr. M. S. Jackson. The other is for a trailer park in the Desert Hot Springs area, on a portion of the south side of Dillon road west of Bennett Road in an M-3 zone. It is requested by Elijah C. Morgan.

Calectric Plans New Generating Facility

California Electric Power Company plans to begin construction of a new $10 million, 75,000 kilowatt generating unit at its Cool Water Steam Electric Generating Plant about the first of the year, Fred Oldendorf, Calectric president, announced today.

Construction of the facility, subject to approval by the California Public Utilities Commission, will be the second built by Calectric at its Mojave Desert development, 11 miles east of Barstow, in the last two years. The first unit was completed in May of last year.

Oldendorf said the second generating unit is scheduled to be completed in April of 1964 and in commercial use by June of that year.

He said a contract already has been signed with the Fluor Corporation of Los Angeles, an international construction firm and builders of the first Cool Water unit, to erect the second unit.

The 75,000 kilowatt Allis-Chalmers turbine-generator will be one of the largest generating units in the Calectric system, Oldendorf said.

Among the facilities which will be constructed for the second unit will be a new boiler, larger than the present one, to supply an adequate supply of steam to the large turbine-generator; new condensers and additional cooling towers. The control room, which was built for the first unit, was designed to be used as a common facility for a second unit.

Cool Water Steam Electric Generating Plant is located on the edge of Daggett. Unit One's boiler, which towers 134 feet above ground level at its highest point,

NEW YORK (UPI) — A Spear & Staff analysis, based on earnings of 22 of the 30 industrials in the Dow average, puts earnings at $9.04 for second quarter, or $36 on an annual basis.

At a price — earnings multiple of 16, the advisory service notes, this would peg the Dow at around 576, or moderately below the current level.

If earnings dip, Spear notes, so will the Dow. "However, downswinging periods in business are typically followed by recoveries and if such a cyclical business upsurge occurs after a tax cut, there would be a double barreled impact to restore investor confidence and move the Dow substantially above present levels."

Bache & Co. says we have now seen six consecutive sessions in which the industrial average has closed above its mid-July peak while both the railroad average and the advance-decline line total gains vs losses in any given session charted graphically have remained below similar levels.

"Considering the unfavorable technical implications of such a divergence, we suggest that short term trading accounts consider moving out of about 25 per cent of their current long positions. Issues sold now can be replaced at the time when major technical factors begin to show strength in union."

It's Really Not a Loophole

Possible tax reduction and tax reform grip the headlines. Inevitably, a part of the discussion centers around ways to eliminate tax loopholes.

However, some of the alleged loopholes are not loopholes at all. They represent instead, widely misunderstood tax policies of long-standing which are essential to this country's growth, employment, living standards, and defense.

The prime example here is the 27% per cent depletion allowance allowed oil producers (and producers only). That amounts to a credit against federal income taxes. Here, say its critics, is a loophole of huge magnitude. So—what are the facts?

Fact one, which no one can conceivably dispute, is that this country must keep on searching for more oil to compensate for the enormous consumption.

Fact two is that oil wells are wasting assets, which wear out and must be replaced if our vital underground reserves are to be maintained at a safe level.

Fact three is that searching for oil is an exceedingly risky business. Only about three out of 100 wildcat wells are successful producers.

What this adds up to is that men must be offered an inducement if they are to take such long risks. And that explains the why and wherefore of the depletion allowance. Even so, depletion provides only about $1 out of every $4 which is spent in developing production.

Still another fact — if depletion goes out the window, something must take its place as an essential economic force. That something would have to be higher prices for oil products. Estimates say, for instance, the motorists would be forced to pay some 5 cents a gallon more for gasoline.

So the story goes. Depletion isn't a tax loophole, and it doesn't represent tax favoritism. Instead, it performs a necessary role in sustaining the country's economic stature. And it is more important now than ever before, in this era of an intensifying cold war, and ever-tougher competition for trade and prestige both here and abroad.

We All Know the People Pay

What idea, what philosophy, dominated the minds of the men who founded this country, and laid down the principles they meant it to abide by?

Thomas Jefferson expressed a fundamental thought perfectly when he said: "I am for a government that is rigorously frugal and simple, and not for one that multiplies offices to make partisans, that is, to get votes, and by every device increases the public debt under the guise of being a public benefit."

Admittedly, there have been vast changes in the nation and the world since the great Jefferson's day. But this does not excuse the development of an attitude which makes the attraction of votes the paramount objective of great numbers of government officials who show small concern for the value of the dollar and who seek more and more monolithic and dictatorial power.

The people put up every dollar that is returned to them by government through welfare state charity. And they pay not only in money but in the infinitely more important coin of lost liberty.

Invest in America

A million new jobs a year call for at least $17,000 new capital investment per job—seventeen billion dollars a year. And at least twenty billion dollars a year is needed to maintain the plants and machinery providing the 67 million jobs we now enjoy. Where is the money coming from?

The answer: From the same source of capital that has provided it in the past—savings in the form of retained earnings of business enterprise and the savings of the American people—your savings.

You don't have to own stock in a corporation to be a capitalist—an investor. That's only one way. If you put your savings in a bank or savings and loan institution, or take out life insurance or buy real estate, your money—your savings—is put to work by business and industry to develop jobs, production of goods and services. That's what investment means—putting money to work.

Let's voluntarily and wisely invest in America: our funds and our faith in our future. We are all capitalist-investors of our savings.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

Senate Vs. Court — Religion Battle

WASHINGTON, D.C. — By nature the U.S. Supreme Court is also the supreme reverser of other people's opinions, but now it appears that the Court may get its comeuppance from another prestigious body, the U.S. Senate.

Ever since the Court's decision in the New York prayer case, outlawing a 23-word invocation by children to their deity, the Senate has been bound and determined to write a Constitutional Amendment which would reverse the Court.

But when it comes to framing language to do the work, the Judiciary Committee, as well as several Senatorial volunteers, have been stumped. At the two Judiciary meetings which I've attended, the proposed wordage lost all meaning in verbosity, and the arguments between Senators sounded more like medieval metaphysical dialogues than modern Americanese.

Order Out of Chaos

Then along came an expert witness, Bishop James Pike, (Episcopalian, Calif.) — and order rose out of chaos. The Bishop is an organ-toned, burly, black-haired, triple threat, in that he is a theologian of impressive scholarship, a lawyer who has taught religion and Law and is privileged to practice as a member of the Bar of the Supreme Court, and, finally, a man of wit.

This third qualification stood Dr. Pike in the best stead when he came to telling the Judiciary Committee how to amend the Constitution and save the right to prayer in public schools. His quips had the Senators chuckling, but that wasn't where his wit shone brightest. Agreeing, no doubt, with Shakespeare, who told us that "brevity is the soul of wit," Bishop Pike proposed just 14 words to clear up the whole religious controversy. The First Amendment forbids any law for "the establishment of religion." The Bishop declares the phrase should be rewritten to state:

"The recognition as an Established Church of any denomination, sect, or organized religious association."

Constitution Intent

This, of course, is what the Constitution intended in the first place. Dr. Pike's curt substitution would fix everything. All we need is for two-thirds of both Houses of Congress and three-fourths of the States to give their approval.

During the Bishop's fluent testimony, Senator Hart (D. Mich.), threw a momentary scare into the proceedings. Hart, a devout Catholic and much concerned with all this, pointed out to Dr. Pike (who, at the time, was reading off religious allusions from numerous State Constitutions) that nowhere is there the slightest reference to God in the Federal Constitution. Where, then, is there any fundamental authority for proclaiming the USA to be a godly nation?

Momentarily, it appeared that the Senator had the Bishop stymied. Dr. Pike recovered, however, to remark that the Constitution

QUOTES

WASHINGTON — Secretary of State Dean Rusk, explaining why he feels the United States should continue giving aid to Yugoslavia:

"It is quite true that Yugoslavia is a Communist country. But we do not believe Yugoslavia is working hand in glove with the rest of the Communist bloc in a conspiratorial design aimed at the overthrow of governments all over the world."

"presupposed" God because its framers were, to a considerable extent, the same ones who wrote the Declaration of Independence, where "Nature's God" is used in the first paragraph. There was no point, Dr. Pike contended, in the Founding Fathers saying what they'd said already.

Immediate Antecedent

Well — maybe, but to one listener the Bishop seemed a little shaky here. Thomas Jefferson, reputed to be the author of the Declaration, was out of the country, as Minister to France, when the Constitution was drawn and adopted. Moreover, the Declaration was not the predecessor or antecedent of the Constitution. The Constitution's immediate antecedent was the Articles of Confederation and Perpetual Union, 1781, a splendid but neglected masterpiece in which Article One gives the name of our country: "The style of this confederacy shall be the United States of America."

Had Dr. Pike replied to Senator Hart that the Articles of Confederation (it was signed by many who signed the Constitution five years later) officially incorporated a belief in God into our national charter, he would have been on sounder ground. The sum-up, final paragraph of the Articles begins:

"And whereas it hath pleased the Great Governor of the World to incline the hearts of the legislatures we respectively represent in Congress, to approve of, and to authorize us to ratify the said Articles of Confederation... etc..."

Any mention of the good, old Articles brings the intellectualist's snicker these days, for the Articles are very specific about States' rights, and hence very out of fashion. But it is here, rather than in the Declaration, that this nation really declared itself to be "under God."

THIS SIDE Of The Sun

R. F. "Phat" GRAETTINGER

You might think it's warmish as we swelter through Aug. But let us be thankful, for at least there's no smog.

There's really no reason for the above except that I was early for an appointment in a Los Angeles hotel lobby and put in my time trying to think up a rhyme for August. All I got was locust which reminded me of cricket and that, being unpleasant, I resolutely put aside. Then, because my eyes were smarting, that last line sneaked in.

IF A FELLOW can wangle an inside job in a refrigerated place he's a lot better off in the desert than in the roaring metropolis even if the ocean is 100 miles closer.

And if he is up in the cool, pink dawn, gets crumbs on his desk eating lunch in the office, and hooks a ride home in an air-conditioned car, he's got it made.

Life can be sweet. THESE BEING the so-called Dog Days, you read of all sorts of queer goings-on.

Groups with nothing else to do, used to see who could crowd the most people in a telephone booth. Others of like intelligence, tried to outlast each other on top of poles. And the more hardy sought to see who could dance the longest.

NOW IT'S ice cubes — couples trying to see which can lob bit of congealed water back and forth the most times before it becomes uncooled.

Why? In the first place it isn't cooling to work up a sweat tossing them; secondly, who's worrying about the staying powers of an ice cube; and thirdly, I think it's a waste of a product of which we don't seem to have enough of.

YOU'RE ALWAYS hearing of people running short and bothering the neighbors for a trayful. That ice cube that sailed through the air 2,212 times, which I think is the record, might have been just the one to perfect that "well, all right, just one more, mind you," belt.

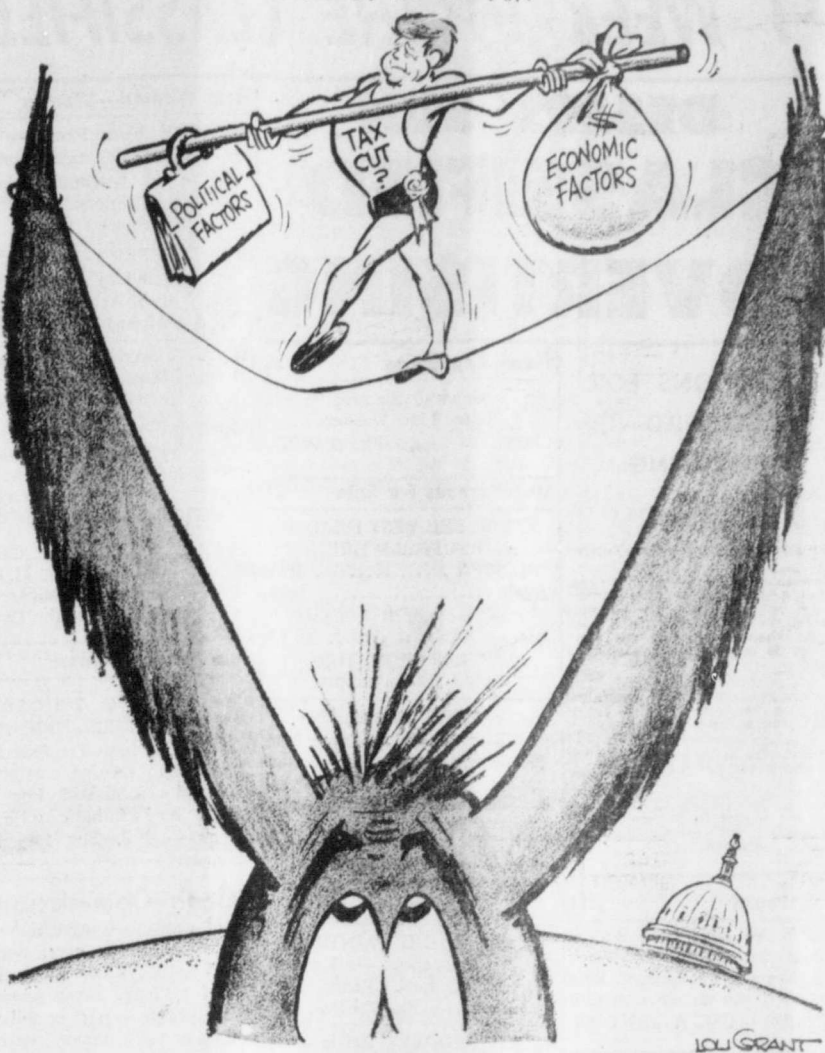

I can think of a much better game with ice cubes. All you'd need would be one glass and two ice cubes per competitor and a stop watch.

YOU PUT the cubes in the glasses and, at the word go, shake the watch. The player whose glass first contains nothing but water, picks up the pot. If Gus Kettmann isn't looking. There can be many variations of this sport on a hot day. It could be speeded by surrounding the ice cube with other materials and getting rid of them while the ice melts.

THE ONLY LIMIT to the number of games would be the durability of the players instead of the ice cubes. The only drawback would be that after the sixth or seventh, depending on capacity of the player, the fellow in charge of the stopwatch might either forget to wind it or be unable to read it.

But it holds the possibility of being more fun tossing down the materials in which the cubes float, than just the unsupported cubes. And not nearly the physical exertion.

STILL UP IN THE AIR

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: Our 12-year-old boy was born with a hairlip (cleft palate) and a club foot, too. It cost us up in the thousands to make him normal and, in our eyes, he IS normal. He has a nice personality. He joined a Little League baseball club and was thrilled when he made the first team.

The other boys made so much fun of him it broke my heart, so I made him quit the team and returned the suit. Did I do wrong?

UPSET MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Yes. If there are traces of your son's handicaps perhaps he must learn to live with them. Protecting him from unpleasant situations is not helping him to adjust. You meant well, but you should have let him slug it out.

DEAR ABBY: Never did I think that a syndicated columnist would put me in second place with my boy friend. He had the nerve to tell me not to fog up my glasses until he finished reading DEAR ABBY.

MISS BY A MILE

DEAR MISS: You're being framed! And HE needs contacts.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please warn kind-hearted truck drivers and other drivers NOT to pick up elderly people unless they KNOW the hitch-hiker is in full command of his mind? My father is almost 80 and walks with a cane. Once, on his way to the grocery store (which is half a mile down the road), he hitched a ride with a truck driver who drove him 200 miles. It took us five days to locate him. Another time he hitched a ride with a man who took him to Chicago. We had the police looking for him for two weeks. Old folks are sometimes forgetful. It is better to let them walk.

LOOKING FOR DAD AGAIN

CONFIDENTIAL TO IRMA: You are mistaken (and so was I until Dr. Raper straightened me out!)—dentures, no matter how expertly fitted, do not come close to doing the job as well as one's natural teeth. So do yourself a favor and take good care of the teeth you have.

DEAR ABBY: Just because I have the kind of job where I have to keep a smile on my face and look friendly (I am a waitress), some of the men I serve think I am fair game. I am not interested in any man as I am waiting for my boy friend, who is away in the service. What should I do when men give me the eye?

THE GIRL BACK HOME
DEAR GIRL: Give them the NO'S! And more power to you!

Unload your problem on Abby. For a personal reply, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope to ABBY, care of this paper.

FEDERAL SCHOOL AID

Shall Urgency Overrule Educational Essentials?

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last installment of a three-part report on federal aid to education given in a speech by Dr. John Addison Howard, president of Rockford College.

Recently President Davidson of the University of Louisville made some observations about the effects of governmental research programs, and noted that doctoral programs, initiated at Louisville in 1951, now number eight, all in science, and all in response to opportunities presented. If the initiative effectively lay with the graduate Dean and faculty of that university, do you think they would have excluded other branches of learning? This example raises another matter, the effect of matching grants and the extent to which local policy is influenced by the opportunities provided from above. It can be said that Louisville should have been strong and resisted the temptation to build eight graduate science departments before it could start some in other fields, but a university is a service institution and understandably chooses to provide the fullest range of services it can.

Politics Vs Education

The fact remains that governmental programs do have the inexorable effect of making an institution something different than it would have been had the institutional officers laid the plans, free of government influence.

There are other essential aspects of the nature of a college and its purposes which must be evaluated in regard to the effects of federal subsidy — whether college presidents of the future will be chosen for their political skills and Washington contacts instead of for their educational philosophy, for instance — but perhaps enough has been said to make the point that we must pay a heavy price for federal dollars and it behooves us to know what that price is before we make the deal.

Money is the present magnet which draws education toward federal aid, but for most educators, Washington dollars have long been considered a last resort. Since money is the lure, some money questions ought to be asked. Do we actually believe new funds can suddenly spring forth from Washington like Athena appearing full grown from the head of Zeus? Or have we deceived ourselves into thinking we can borrow from the future larger and larger sums without ever having to pay them?

Finds Available

The additional money for education which we might obtain from the federal government is the same money which is already available to the state, municipal and private sources, although it is true they are less prodigal with their funds. Clearly our easiest course is to get Congress to vote monies for us, but the sacrifices education must make for that easy money would seem to involve selling our educational soul. I am not willing to believe that the people of America, nor their elected representatives, nor their educational leaders would take this step if they recognized its full implications. Difficult as it may be to obtain our finances through the traditional sources, the stakes warrant far more determined efforts than have yet been made. Great treasures are only earned and safeguarded by hard work, personal sacrifice and vigilance. A strong, diverse, dynamic system of colleges and universities guided and restricted only by their respective boards of control is truly one of the greatest treasures we possess.

Hasty Action

It appears as if we are being stampeded into hasty action by governmental officers who understandably would like the credit for solving a grave problem and by the professional Washington staff members of educational agencies who are expressly hired to promote closer ties between government and education. Perhaps these people are so engrossed in their own responsibilities that they lack the perspective to anticipate the consequences of their recommendations. It is for us whose lives are bound up in the operation of colleges to analyze with precision and make known with conviction what will be the results of further subsidy by the federal government.

May we be granted the wisdom to recognize in this matter what is truly essential and what is merely urgent! And may we be granted the courage and the strength to meet the problems of education by methods that will safeguard the institutions entrusted to us!

Remember When

August 10, 1952

The state public utilities commission reported that the California Water and Telephone Co. had met requirements to improve its services here as requested by protesting desert residents at an earlier hearing.

Remodeling of the waiting room and offices at Palm Springs Airport was on schedule, City Manager Russell Rank reported.

August 10, 1942

The Army's proposal to locate the Torrey General Hospital sewage disposal plant in the center of Section 19 met with a flood of protests from residents in the neighborhood when city council met to discuss the plans.

August 10, 1932

One precinct was announced for Palm Springs for the August 20 primaries — at the school house. Officers named were R.L. Edwards, inspector; Mrs. Rose McKunney and Frank Albers, judges; Mrs. Henrietta Parker, Bertha Hamsher and John S. Atterbury, clerks.

HELLO JOE

Maggie and I want to let you know that we took your advice and turned our lot in as part payment on the corner house in Racquet Club Road Estates. We love everything about our new place, the spacious and cheerful rooms, wonderful location, atmosphere, neighbors, etc. Joe, everything you told us about these homes is true, now we realize just how fortunate we are, we also realize that there will never be an opportunity like this again. We know positively that these are the last of the Racquet Club Road Estate homes to be built and that there are a very few left that can be bought for $21,500 with only $1,250 down. Once again many thanks to you Joe for referring us to.

L.A. Dodgers Open All Important 3-Game Series in S.F. Tonight

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Cushioned by a 5½ game lead, the Los Angeles Dodgers today left for San Francisco and their critical series with the second place Giants after completing their best home stand of the season.

Despite the absence of pitcher Sandy Koufax, who has not worked since July 17 with a numbed finger, the Dodgers closed out their 13-game home stand with an 11-2 record Thursday night by defeating the Philadelphia Phillies, 8-3.

The 13 games at home over 12 dates were not only profitable for the Dodgers in the standings but also in attendance. A crowd of 32,226 Thursday night raised the attendance for the season to 1,828,638 which passed last season's entire home attendance of 1,804,250. And the Dodgers still have 21 games at home this year.

"It's nice to have this lead with 46 games left to play," manager Walt Alston admitted prior to herding his players north. "But it's still a long way to the finish and anything can happen."

Koufax Still Out

Koufax joins the Dodgers in San Francisco Saturday and will accompany them on their 15-game road trip but it was anybody's guess when he will get into a game. The southpaw has been throwing on the sidelines for the past few days but is not nearly in pitching condition.

Although the Dodgers hold an 8-3 edge over the Giants, they are 3-3 at Candlestick Park. And the Dodgers have only 14 games left with the bottom four clubs, the rest with the top teams.

The "big man" of the home stand was Frank Howard who batted .365 during the 13-game span and batted in 20 runs. But Tommy Davis increased his total runs batted in to 115 to become the all-time Dodger leader for left fielders. The old club mark was 112 set by Hall of Fame member Zach Wheat in 1922.

Tommy Davis drove in three runs Thursday night, two of them on his 18th homer in the sixth inning. But the big blows so far as the final outcome was concerned were triples by Lee Walls and Frank Howard in the seventh inning when the Dodgers scored six runs.

Walls tripled home Ron Fairly and scored himself on an error. Philly starter Dennis Bennett then gave up three straight singles to load the bases. Tommy Davis walked in a run off reliever Jack Baldschun before Howard tripled home three runs.

Rookie Pete Richert started for the Dodgers but was relieved by Ed Roebuck in the seventh after the Phillies went ahead, 3-2. Although he worked only two-thirds of an inning, Roebuck got credit for the win as the pitcher of record during the big seventh inning rally and now has an 8-0 record this season and has not suffered a defeat in 66 appearances since Aug. 9, 1960, during which he has won 10 games.

For the Phillies it was the ninth straight loss at Dodger Stadium this season and it ran Philadelphia's current losing streak to seven games. One of the Philadelphia runs came on catcher Bob Oldis' first major league homer.

Bennett was the last southpaw to defeat the Dodgers, shutting them out 7-0 at Philadelphia June 2. But Thursday night's game marked the 21st time since then that a left-hander has started without achieving a victory.

CV Sultans Hang 6-0 Defeat on Chuck's

Standings in the Desert Softball League could become as tight as a hat band this time next week after action last night at the Polo Grounds when the co-leaders of the loop, Chuck's Welding, tasted their second defeat in league competition as the Sultans breezed to a 6-0 victory.

This left the Mexican Colony nine top team on the totem pole with only one defeat to mar their league record. But come next Wednesday night all the marbles will be polished and up for grabs as the Sultans cross bats with the Colony stickmen. If the Sultans hang a defeat on the Mexican ball club the standings will be thrown back into a deadlock between Chuck's Welding and you know who.

that game, the Desert Sun nine jumped to a 2-0 lead going into the third inning, but about that time the bottom fell out and the Mexican Colony softballers crossed the plate five times. They added more icing to the cake in the fifth frame by rounding the bases four times and added a little cushion in the sixth with two more tallies to coast to a 11-2 league victory.

BATTLE FOR SECOND

Angels Face Twins in 3

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The Los Angeles Angels tonight open what easily could be the most important series of their home stand against the Minnesota Twins. The loser of this set could be counted out of the American League pennant race.

The Twins and Angels, who endured an embarrassing 6-0 setback at the hands of the Chicago White Sox Thursday, are tied for second place, five games behind the New York Yankees. While sages, inside and out of the game, figured the Yankees would run away with the flag when the Angels faltered two weeks ago, the New Yorkers have shown rare Gotham courtesy in fumbling their way out of the opportunity.

In tonight's contest at Chavez Ravine, Dean Chance goes after his 10th win for Los Angeles against Jim Kaat, 12-9, of the visiting Minnesota club.

Los Angeles, thanks to a modest mid-week winning streak, returned home with eight wins and eight losses on its road trip.

The Angels, if they do hope to gain on the Yankees, have to show more power than Thursday's spellbound performance against the White Sox. Eddie Fisher, a journeyman who once toiled for the Giants, yielded only three singles to the frustrated West Coast club.

Palmer Finally Finds Red Hot Putter in Bag

AKRON, Ohio (UPI) — Arnold Palmer, thanks to a hot putter, was off and running today in his drive to break his all-time money winning record, with a two-stroke lead in the $50,000 American Golf Classic.

His first-round three-under-par 67 gave him a two-shot advantage over George Bayer, Jim Ferrier and Mike Souchak and put him in a good position to pick up enough prize money to exceed the $72,262.85 he won in 1960.

Keglers Korner

Bowlers on the Desert Air Conditioning team in the 515 Scratch Trio league at the PS Lanes won three from the Builders Supply in bowling action last night.

Cirone's is still leading the league by one game and five teams are tied for the runner-up spot. John McGarry rolled his series with a 762 total.
